

An imposter named Dustin Tannahill stole my identity and I was so glad to find out he committed suicide--I am now the proud owner of his identity. I am not happy that someone took advantage of me, but what I will say is this: If you are reading this, please please please download these programs on your computer then delete or format them before you sell them or otherwise put them on the internet. Take a screenshot of their installers first to make sure they contain no nefarious code (even if there is no installer). At least give yourself protection before you decide to monetize my identity for personal gain. I'm not sure why anyone would want to distribute these programs, but I have already reported them to the Department of Homeland Security, the Anti-Phishing Working Group, and the Computer Emergency Readiness Team. Please don't do this. Read More at LinkedIn
